About the Course:

Clinical practitioners operate at the intersection of technical expertise and organizational responsibility. Yet most clinical training programs prepare professionals for individual performance, not institutional leadership.

This module addresses that gap. It provides a structured, evidence-based foundation in leadership principles tailored to the realities of clinical environments — from the operating theatre to hospital administration. Participants will examine how leadership identity, decision-making, and safety culture are built and sustained within complex healthcare systems.

This is the first module of a progressive leadership development program designed for practicing clinicians and healthcare administrators who are ready to lead beyond their clinical role.

Why Attend:

- Bridge the gap between clinical expertise and leadership responsibility
- Make better decisions under pressure using structured frameworks
- Drive patient safety culture beyond your immediate clinical role
- Prepare for broader institutional and operational leadership

Who Should Attend ?

- Anaesthesiologists and Critical Care Physicians
- Physicians and Consultants across Surgery, Internal Medicine, and other Clinical Specialties
- Postgraduate Medical Students and Residents
- Nursing Heads and Senior Clinical Leads
- Hospital Administrators and Owners
